Club Member Handbook

Club Members

Your guide to joining and taking part in La Pasión clubs.

Welcome to the clubs program. This handbook explains how clubs work, who runs them, and the rules every member agrees to when he joins. Read it once, keep it, and ask your Club Teacher if anything is unclear.

1 About the clubs program

Clubs at MEIS - Al Wurud are student-led, run by the La Pasión Student Council, and overseen by the MEIS - Al Wurud administration. Every club follows this handbook, school policy, and the laws and values of the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia.

Purpose. Clubs give students a place to learn a skill, follow an interest, and lead their peers outside regular classes.

Oversight. The administration has approved the clubs program and keeps final authority over it. The council runs clubs day to day on the administration's behalf. Any rule here can be overridden by the administration.

2 Who runs your club

Each club has exactly one Club Teacher and two volunteer proctors. Problems move up one level at a time, and anything serious goes straight to the administration.

Role	Who	Main job	Reports to
Administration	MEIS - Al Wurud school leadership	Final authority over the program; handles serious incidents	—
Head of PR	La Pasión council	Creates clubs, appoints Club Teachers, sets schedules and rooms, suspends or closes clubs	Administration
Head of Volunteers	La Pasión council	Assigns, trains and supervises proctors; handles proctor conduct	Administration
Club Teacher	One selected Grade 12 student per club	Plans and leads every session; in charge of the room	Head of PR
Volunteer proctor	Two council volunteers per club	Keeps the session safe and orderly; follows the Club Teacher's directions	Club Teacher in sessions; Head of Volunteers otherwise
Club member	Any student who joins	Takes part, follows the rules, notifies absences	Club Teacher

Who to go to

- Questions about a club's content, schedule or membership: the Club Teacher, then the Head of PR.
- Questions about proctors, their duties or their conduct: the Head of Volunteers.
- Safety, health, bullying, or anything a student cannot share with the council: a member of the administration or the school nurse, immediately.

3 Rules for club members

Members are expected to take part respectfully and follow the Club Teacher. Missing a session is never punished, but you must tell your Club Teacher.

Joining

1. Join through the sign-up method announced by the council. A club may cap its numbers; places are first come, first served unless the Head of PR announces otherwise.
2. You may leave a club at any time by telling the Club Teacher.
3. Club activities never replace class time. Your classes, tests and school duties come first.

Attendance

1. Come on time. If you are late, enter quietly and check in with a proctor.
2. Absence is not punished. If you will miss a session, notify the Club Teacher as early as you can, before the session if possible, or as soon as you are able afterwards.
3. Leave a session early only with the Club Teacher's permission.

During sessions

1. Follow the directions of the Club Teacher and the proctors. They are in charge of the room.
2. Treat every member with respect. No insults, mocking, bullying, hazing, fighting or rough play.
3. Speak and behave in line with school rules, Islamic values and Saudi law. No inappropriate language, content or gestures.
4. Use phones and devices only when the Club Teacher allows it for the activity.
5. Do not photograph or record other students without their permission and the Club Teacher's approval. Never post club photos of students online without school approval.
6. Look after the room and equipment. Report anything broken to a proctor. Help tidy up at the end.
7. No food or drink unless the Club Teacher allows it and the room permits it.
8. Stay in the club space. Leave the room only with permission, and tell a proctor where you are going.
9. If you feel unwell, unsafe, or see something wrong, tell a proctor or the Club Teacher straight away.

4 Conduct and safety

Safety always comes first. Breaking the rules is handled in small steps, and serious matters go to the administration.

What happens if rules are broken

1. Reminder. A proctor or the Club Teacher reminds the member of the rule, quietly.
2. Warning. The Club Teacher speaks to the member privately and notes it in the session report.
3. Time out. The member sits apart from the activity for the rest of the session, still supervised.
4. Referral. After repeated problems in one term, the Club Teacher refers the member to the Head of PR, who may meet him or remove him from the club.
5. Administration. Fighting, bullying, harassment, theft, damage, unsafe behaviour or anything against Saudi law skips the steps and goes straight to the administration the same day.

In an emergency

- If you or someone else is hurt or unwell, tell a proctor or the Club Teacher at once.
- If the fire alarm sounds, stop, follow the Club Teacher and proctors along the evacuation route, and stay with your club at the assembly point until you are counted.
- If you are being harmed, bullied or feel unsafe, in the club or anywhere at school, tell the Club Teacher, a proctor, or any member of the administration. You will be listened to.

Respect and privacy

- Every member is treated equally, whatever his grade, nationality or background.
- Members' names, contact details, grades and photos stay inside the club and the council.
- Club group chats, if used, must include the Club Teacher, follow the same rules as sessions, and be approved by the Head of PR.

5 Reporting issues and protecting the Council

Club and council matters are handled inside the council, through the proper chain, and are not taken outside it. This policy protects the council, its members and everyone who takes part in clubs.

Where to report an issue

1. An issue inside a club (a member, the club, the Club Teacher's session, or any council matter): report it to the Club Teacher first. If the Club Teacher is involved, or the issue is not solved, report it to the Head of PR.
2. An issue about a proctor: report it to the Head of Volunteers.
3. Reports are made privately, calmly and in person or by direct message to the person concerned. The Head of PR and the Head of Volunteers handle every report fairly and keep it confidential.

What is not allowed

- Escalating an issue before reporting it to the Head of PR (or, for an issue about a proctor, the Head of Volunteers). Escalating includes running straight to the administration before consulting the chain above, and going to other students, social media, group chats or outside people instead.

- Spreading rumours, complaints or club and council matters in public or online.
- Posting or sharing photos, recordings, messages or details from clubs without approval.

Permanent ban

Anyone who escalates an issue before reporting it to the Head of PR, or who otherwise breaks this policy, is permanently banned from taking part in clubs and from volunteering with Primum Auxilium, including the Club Teacher and proctor roles. The Head of PR and the Head of Volunteers record the decision, and the administration is informed.

Safety always comes first

If someone is hurt, unwell or in danger, or a student is being harmed, tell a proctor, the Club Teacher, the school nurse or the administration straight away. This policy never stops anyone from doing that, and nobody is penalised for reporting a real safety concern in good faith.

No hazing

Hazing is any initiation, ritual, challenge, dare, prank, forced task or humiliation, physical or not, used to join, stay in, or rank within a club. It is banned in every club, whether or not the other person agrees to it.

- No member, Club Teacher or proctor may start, take part in, encourage or ignore hazing.
- Anyone who sees hazing reports it to the Club Teacher or a proctor at once, or to the administration if the Club Teacher or a proctor is involved.
- Hazing is a serious matter. The person is removed from the club immediately, and the case goes to the administration the same day.
